

JERHRE now in MEDLINE

Journal News

- The Auk
- The Public Historian
- Gastronomica

Archival Access

JERHRE now in MEDLINE

UC Press is pleased to announce the inclusion of the Journal of Empirical Research on Human Research Ethics in MEDLINE

(http://www.ncbi.nlm.nih.gov/sites/entrez?db=journals&term=%22J%20Empir%20Res%20Hum%20Res%20Ethics%22\[Title%20Abbreviation. JERHRE (pronounced as 'JERRY') will be indexed going forward and retrospectively.

Now in its 4th volume, JERHRE is a unique title, publishing empirical research and reviews of empirical literature on human research ethics. JERHRE aims to improve ethical problem solving in human research and provide an ongoing basis for the establishment of best practice guidelines. Without evidence-based problem solving, ethical questions are unsatisfactorily settled by applying one-size-fits-all interpretation of principles or regulations, or resorting to anecdote as evidence for one or another interpretation.

Says Joan Sieber, editor of JERHRE, "The inclusion of JERHRE on MEDLINE vitally advances evidence-based ethical problem solving in biomedical research worldwide."

Journal of Empirical Research on Human Research Ethics is a key addition to any library's collection. For further information on JERHRE, including pricing, may be found here: <http://www.ucpressjournals.com/journal.asp?j=jer>

For a free trial to this journal, or for more information, please contact library@ucpress.edu.

Journal News

The Auk: A Quarterly Journal of Ornithology was recently designated one of the 100 most influential journals of Biology and Medicine over the last 100 years.

This accolade was bestowed on the journal by DBIO, the Biomedical and Life Sciences Division of the Special Libraries Association [<http://units.sla.org/division/dbio/publications/resources/dbio100.html>].

The Auk publishes innovative empirical and theoretical findings. Topics of articles appearing in The Auk include the documentation, analysis, and interpretation of laboratory and field studies, theoretical or methodological developments, and reviews of information or ideas. Authors are encouraged to consider the relevance of their conclusions to general concepts and theories and to taxa in addition to birds.

More information on The Auk, including pricing and A&I information, can be found here. To request a trial please contact library@ucpress.edu.

The current issue of The Public Historian (Volume: 31, Number: 1 Winter 2009) is a Special Issue 'Public History in Canada', guest edited by Lyle Dick of Parks Canada and explores a number of themes. Subscribers to this journal will find the full table of contents and full text articles on the Caliber journal page.

Gastronomica: The Journal of Food and Culture has been nominated for Gastronomica has been nominated for the 2009 Utne Independent Press Awards for Social/Cultural Coverage and Best Writing:

<<http://www.utne.com/Media/Independent-Press-Awards-Best-Magazines-Nominees-2009.aspx>><http://www.utne.com/Media/Independent-Press-Awards-Best-Magazines-Nominees-2009.aspx>

More information on Gastronomica, including pricing and A&I information, can be found here. To request a trial please contact library@ucpress.edu.

Archival Access

The Press is making electronic-only archive content on Caliber available at a 30% discount off the regular e-only rate. With no penalties for print cancellation, this offer is attractive for those institutions looking to build their online archive as part of a shift to e-only subscriptions.

For a quote, please contact Rachel Lee, Library Relations Manager, at library@ucpress.edu.