

RIGHTS MANAGEMENT

UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA PRESS
JOURNALS + DIGITAL PUBLISHING

Intellectual property is the foundation of scholarship. As a publisher, our job at University of California Press is not only to help build that foundation, but to protect it as well. Our partners rely on us to disseminate their scholarship widely, while also asserting the principles of copyright law. In this capacity, our activities include:

LICENSES

tracking and licensing journal content

RIGHTS

negotiating subsidiary rights in all forms of media

COPYRIGHT

ensuring appropriate legal safeguards for classroom copies and reprints by secondary publishers

CONTRACTS

standardizing or customizing authors' publishing agreements.
